CASUALTY: HEYDRICH

No one expects Germany to do anything else except shoot a lot of helpless people because a fellow named Heydrich, one of the top-flight Nazi executioners, happened to die from wounds received in the line of duty. There is, in fact, nothing else for Germany to do. Its course was predetermined by the manner of its conquest.

The peoples it is holding against their will have one great ambition—to get rid of their conquerors, to get even with them, to avenge the honor of the people they have robbed of dignity. Every additional execution deepens the grievance. Nazi terror is a ghastly mistake—yet there is no alternative.

It was reported that at the outset the invaders tried kindness. It was not reciprocated; they were invaders. Nothing could compensate for their original crime, their resort to bloodshed. They wilfully had embarked on an adventure of killing or being killed.

That is the way it must be in a civilization that has renounced war as an instrument of national policy. The Germans did a criminal thing when they precipitated war. They cannot evade the consequences of their crime. Their Heydrichs will be killed whenever and wherever they can be caught. That is unwritten international law.

EXPERTS AGREE

Aside from the motive and details, which remain obscure, there is one fact about the incident at Dutch Harbor on which all experts can agree. It was an attack by the Japanese. Like the attack on Pearl Harbor, it was an attempt to put the United States at a disadvantage.

The Axis triumvirate has gained all its territory and all its advantages to date by striking first. Its secret weapon has been attack, or it would be more accurate to say it has been the privilege of attack. Its victims have waited and the results have been uniformly disastrous.

There is reason to suppose that United States policy as far as Dutch Harbor, the Aleutian Islands and Alaska are concerned calls for offense, not defense. However, it now becomes a matter of record that the first blow came from the other side. The evidence against defense is increased. The Axis will not be crushed until its strength can be destroyed where it is most disastrous.

CHINA WON'T SHRUG OFF

All the news from China is bad. It is the dismal front of the United Nations. Paradoxically, the Chinese armies that have been fighting the Japanese for five years never needed help so desperately as they did after they received some.

Lin Yutang, the Chinese philosopher, stated the case in a letter to the New York Times last Sunday. It was an antidote for smugness. "It is time that we export something more than words of praise and anti-Japanese propaganda to China," he wrote. "Wholly unintentional, and through neglect, China has been shamefully, disgracefully sold out by her allies. . . . It is imperative that America and England reassure China of their bending all-out efforts to defeat Japan, with no politicians' tricks of appeasing Japan and saving her for maintaining the politicians' theory of balance of power in the Far East after the war is over. . . . The Americans are desperately anxious to hear news of bombing Japan from Vladivostok. Here is China, ready to give bases and all cooperation for the Americans to have a chance to bomb Japanese troops right in China and right now. What is holding us from doing it?"

Certainly it is far from a comforting thought that China's ability to stave off defeat never was questioned so sharply as it is now, after gaining the United States and Great Britain as allies.

NOT A GOOD CUSTOM

If congress follows the recommendation of the house appropriations committee, CCC may be cut off at the pockets next fiscal year. Following the time-worn American custom of wishful thinking, the camps will be shoved into the discard and the CCC organization disbanded because of new circumstances.

It was this kind of foolishness after the other war that prompted the government to divest itself of its enormously expensive military strength because it wanted to believe that militarism was outlawed, forever. In the same way, there are many Americans who want to think that unemployment is outlawed forever.

Of course it isn't. The CCC camps will be needed again. On the other hand, because they aren't needed now, their budget should be cut; the shrieks and howls of those who don't want anything changed should be disregarded. The danger—because it's a silly custom in this country—is that the whole thing will be abandoned for no better purpose than to make it more expensive to restore the CCC camps, as they certainly will be restored some day. They were one of the most workable methods devised to avert the consequences of unemployment.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, June 7

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds promise of unusual adventures, with much stability and solid effort applied to accumulating material possessions, reward for labor, industry and duties well performed. While increase of lands, property and probable inheritance or gifts are favored, with preference from public or community organizations, yet there are hazards of loss or fraud through carelessness.

Those whose birthday it is may look for surprising gains either through the ordinary business ventures, through inheritance, gifts, or the increase of value in investments or real possessions. Labor, industry and merit should meet recognition and reward. A child born on this day should have exceptional talents sustained by sound and practical principles. It will be adaptable to many professions or industries.

For Monday, June 8

Monday's astrological forecast is for a moderate degree of activity and good fortune, with the prospect of promotion, favors, honors and preferment at the hands of superiors, employers, relatives or those holding influential positions. Travel, writings, publicity and agencies assist.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of satisfactory progress and activity, especially in connection with travel, writings, publications or agencies. Also those in position and influence are willing to assist.

A child born on this day should have much versatility in intellectual as well as commercial pursuits, gaining through travel or writings. Its superiors, relatives and those in high position will be found ready with honors, recognition and tokens of preferment.

The headlines say: "McNutt Issues A Work Or Fight Order." These are days that every man must do one or the other, and he will gladly comply if he's a true loyal American citizen.

Of course, in addition to planting a Victory garden, there must be working and cultivating a Victory garden, if there are to be any returns.

A spotlight which for seven years illuminated Huey Long's statue at Baton Rouge has been turned off by act of the Legislature. They probably figure it is now safe to trust him in the dark.

EVOLUTION HITS A LAND MINE

CONCISE RULES ON CIVILIAN PROTECTION

Manual Of Instructions Is Timely Publication

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
A TIMELY ADDITION to war literature is the manual of instruction, "Handbook of Civilian Protection," prepared for laymen by the Civilian Defense Council of the College of the City of New York. It is a small, compact manual which contains a great deal of information which we hope that we will need but which we should study "in case."

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Chapter I discusses "Total War and the Civilian" and gives a good outline of the organization of civilian defense with training requirements for the following groups: messengers, drivers, auxiliary firemen, rescue squads, auxiliary police, air raid wardens, fire watchers, emergency food and housing, nurses' aides, demolition and clearance crews, road repair crews, decontamination squads and utility repair squads.

Chapter II describes "Air Raid Conduct and Services"; chapter III, "Fire Fighting"; chapter IV, "Incendiary Bombs"; chapter V is on "Poison Gas"; chapter VI is on "First Aid"; chapter VII is on "Civilian Conservation and Salvage" and chapter VIII is on "Nutrition in the Wartime Emergency." The book runs to only 184 pages but is very complete and well illustrated.

"We have attempted," writes the author, "to condense the large amount of available literature on civilian defense into a volume of clearly written matter designed to be understood by the man on the street. In addition to all the basic civilian protection problems covered, we have included material on a number of problems never before treated in a single volume. These include psychological conduct during air raids, the production of records, rare books and art treasures, and complete and authoritative advice on salvage. The book is unique in that a group of highly trained specialists have succeeded in information in words of one and two syllables."

Its Ten Commands

As an example of the clear and succinct rules I quote here the ten commands for air raid conduct:

"1. If away from home, seek the nearest shelter. Get off the street."

"2. If you are driving, park your car. Shut off all lights."

"3. If you are at home, send all members of the family to the refuge room. Have as little window exposure as possible. Equip the home shelter with drinking water, toilet facilities, a flashlight, a portable radio, a strong table, food and reading material."

"4. It is not necessary to turn off the gas at the meter unless bombs are actually falling in your immediate vicinity."

"5. Blackout your home completely. Not a single crack of light should be seen from the outside."

"6. Keep away from windows. Flying glass splinters are dangerous."

"7. If bombs fall near by, get under a heavy table or an overturned davenport."

"8. Do not rush out of your home when the all clear signal sounds."

"9. Keep the blackout. The raiders may return."

"10. Keep calm. Keep cool. Set an example for others."

Questions and Answers

X. Y. Z.: — "If an expectant mother has one or more birthmarks on her body does she have to worry about her baby's having the same?"
Answer: No.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendingen has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, 235 E. 46th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

BUTTE, Mont.—Before the close of the war, the present tin can may be a silver-plated one instead, according to R. D. Leisk, manager of the Sunbeam Silver mine. He declares industrial consumption of silver has trebled in the past few months and is steadily being used as a replacement for tin.

Baptist Church Observes Lord's Supper Tomorrow

A celebration of the Lord's supper will feature the morning worship service at the First Baptist church tomorrow. Rev. S. Talmage Magann will speak on the subject, "How Jesus Suffered".

The Baptists also announce the opening of their annual Bible school Monday morning.

The B. Y. P. U. will meet at 6:30 in charge of leaders Miss Buella Grace and Howard Bennett. The Sunday school will meet at 9:45.

Special music by the choir will feature the morning worship service. Walter Regal will direct the junior choir and William McCormick the senior group. New members will also be received into the church.

The evening service at 7:30 will include special music and a sermon by the pastor on the subject, "De Ole Time Religion."

The annual Daily Vacation Bible school will start Monday and run daily from 9 to 11 a. m. for two weeks. There will be a special outing in the park each Friday for the entire school with special games and contests for the boys and girls. The theme is "Learning More About God" and all of the work is built around this idea.

The school is open to all boys and girls beginning with the age of 4 with special classes for the various age groups. The program will include worship, music, fun songs, stunts, Bible stories, and dramatics. Diplomas will be given to all who are faithful in their attendance and work.

The staff of teachers, assistants and department heads for the school will include Captain Robert Barton, Lieutenant Robert Langford, Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Magann, Mrs. Russell Walthman, Mrs. Sam Paxson, Miss Marjorie Brian, Miss Vivian Foltz, Mrs. Frank Davidson, Miss Laura Scott, Mrs. David Roberts, and others.

The expense of the school will be met by a daily free will offering from the boys and girls. The Kiddies Rhythm band will give some of the special music features on the opening day of the school.

Christian's Place In Mankind's Life Will Be Discussed

A timely emphasis of the place Christians hold in the life of mankind will be taken up by Rev. C. P. Evans at the Christian church tomorrow in his sermon, "Christians in the Eyes of the World."

Other Sunday services include church school at 9:45 and the young people's meeting at 6:30. Services for the following week are:

Tuesday, 7:00 p. m., Boy Scout meeting.

Tuesday, 7:45 p. m., Loyal Women's class monthly business and social meeting at the church.

Wednesday, 7:00 p. m., Girl Scout meeting.

Thursday, 4:00 p. m., Girl Scout meeting.

Thursday, 9:00 p. m., Junior choir practice.

Thursday, 9:30 p. m., Senior choir practice.

Friday, 2:30 p. m., Women's Missionary society monthly meeting at the church. Election of officers. Executive meeting at 1:45 p. m.

ZION CHURCH LISTS SERVICES FOR WEEK

An Akron quartet, together with quartets from surrounding cities will present a program of chosen selections at the A. M. E. Zion church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program is being sponsored by the young people of the church.

Other services are as follows:

9:45, Sunday school.

11, Morning worship and communion.

7 p. m., Sermon and communion service.

8 p. m., Tuesday. Stewardess board meeting.

8 p. m., Wednesday. Prayer service.

8 p. m., Thursday. Choirs from the Methodist and Baptist churches of Alliance will appear here. At this service all boards of the church will present their financial reports.

At Nazarene Church

Rev. Bishop

The Church of the Nazarene has announced that its daily vacation Bible school will begin Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock with classes for all ages. Registration will be attended to Monday afternoon.

Rev. G. Preston Bishop of Sistersville, W. Va., will act as Dean of the School. Rev. Bishop will also hold a revival campaign here which will begin next Monday evening and continue through June 21. The services will begin at 8 p. m. each day except Saturday.

Services for tomorrow are as follows:

9:45, Sunday school.

10:45, Morning worship.

7:15, Young people's service.

8 p. m., Evangelistic service.

"God--Only Cause, Creator" Is Christian Science Topic

"God The Only Cause And Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow at 11 a. m. The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WCLE (610 kil) Cleveland the 1st and 3rd Sundays of each month at 11 a. m. Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. The mid-week service is held the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month at the church at 8 p. m.

Golden Text: "Lord, thou art God, which has made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all that in them" (Acts 4:24).

Included in the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon are the following correlative passages from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations: thou hast established the earth, and it abideth" (Psalms 119:89,90). "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause."

This Society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read, borrowed or purchased. Open from 1:30 to 4 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the services and visit the reading room.

Trinity Lutheran Church Announces Rites For Sunday

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church, will speak on the subject, "Why Believe In God?" at tomorrow's morning worship. The service is scheduled to begin at 11 o'clock.

A special Children's day program will be presented by the children of the church at 9:30. The offering will be sent to the Oesterlen Orphans' Home in Springfield.

"No greater thought can enter the human mind than the thought of God. The Trinity Season of the Church year brings to our attention the fact and works of God. Life would not have much meaning in it, if God were not real. If the end and purpose of humanity would be no farther than man himself, then there would be very little depth and reach to life. It is much more difficult to face life without God than with Him. Any person has a much more difficult time in explaining this world without God than with Him."

It is impossible to prove the existence of God, as we prove the facts about earthly objects. God defies the test-tube and scientific laboratory. Yet to those who accept the existence of God, it is not blind credulity that gives them the assurance of this spiritual truth. Hopelessness would grip the human mind if we gave any credence to the statement that God is non-existent. Believing in God serves as the secure foundation and reliable anchorage of devout and sincere people."

A Vacation Bible school will be held at the church beginning next Monday at 9 a. m. The sessions will close at 11:30. Competent teachers and interesting lessons will make up the school program. Boys and girls of the entire community are invited to enroll.

Rev. Bauman Opens Series Of Sermons On 'Prayer' Sunday

In the first in a series of sermons on prayer, Rev. John Bauman has chosen as his subject for tomorrow's service at the Emmanuel American Lutheran church "The Nature and Need of Prayer".

A communion service will be held immediately following the divine worship. The approximate time of the service will be 11 o'clock.

The Sunday school, with classes for all ages, will meet at 9 o'clock and the pastor's Bible class will meet at 9:15 in charge of Lee Schaefer, superintendent.

Your Church In Summer

We are thinking what your reaction will be in these coming summer days with respect to your church relations. There is a great temptation that the call of brazen nature may lure us away from the House of God. Summer relaxation, the quest of recreation and the numerous opportunities which the season offers for the scattering of our interests ought not appeal to us so strongly to divorce us from our Christian duties and spiritual privileges. Let us not neglect the soul while refreshing the mind and body. We need the church as the church needs us every season of the year, summer included.

Announcements

The Luther league will meet on Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the church.

The Ladies' Aid meets on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the social rooms of the church.

NEW ORLEANS--Vezay Rainwater of Beaumont, Tex., is in the navy, but he's still chief. He was dubbed Chief Reindeer when he was made an honorary Blackfoot in 1929 by Chief Two-Gun Whitecalf. In the navy he's Chief Yeoman Rainwater.

Salvation Army's Special Meetings Continue Sunday

Dr. J. T. Adams of Oklahoma City goes into the second week of his evangelistic meetings, speaking on the subjects, "Why Did Christ Sanctify Himself?" and "Why Was Christ Baptized" at the local Salvation Army citadel tomorrow.

These meetings are held each evening at 7:30.

Services on Sunday are as follows:

10 a. m., prayer meeting.

10:30 a. m., Street meeting.

11 a. m., Holiness meeting.

2 p. m., Sunday school.

3 p. m., Young People's Legion.

6:30 p. m., prayer meeting.

7 p. m., Street meeting.

7:30 p. m., Evangelistic service.

Navy Air Hero Underground

Operating a drill in a mine 2,800 feet below ground in Butte, Mont., is Lieut. Comm. Edward H. O'Hare (left), navy pilot who shot down six Jap planes in a dog-fight over the Pacific. "What a kick this thing has," he commented to miner Justin Spolar. O'Hare is making a nationwide tour of defense plants and mines before returning to active duty.

Blind Worker Aids War Effort

Although Madeleine D. Brooks, of Waltham, Mass., has been blind for 26 years, she is taking an active part in the war effort. She works at the Waltham Watch Company as an inspector of fuse parts. Her employer says that her work measures up to that of any of her co-workers. Verona, a seeing-eye dog, is her constant companion.

Wanted: Homing Pigeons For U. S. Signal Corps

SELLERSVILLE, Pa. — Members of the North Penn Homing Pigeon Club here are finding their peacetime hobby is proving a vital aid to the war effort.

Forty pigeons, trained by the club, have been requested by the U. S. Army for the Signal Corps training station at Camp Claiborne, La., and Corporal Clarence Stull, a former member of the group, wants as many more birds that can be spared for breeding and training for Army maneuver work.

The club reports that the U. S. Army was the first to develop two-way flight of homing pigeons through a secret method.

KEEP UP THE HOMES WE'RE FIGHTING FOR!

THROUGHOUT THE WIDTH AND BREADTH of America, homes are being redecorated. American women are sharply nurturing a sense of well-ordered living. American women are making their homes bright and filling them with serenity. More definitely than ever are American women carrying through their jobs of homemaking with clearly made plans... with a goal in mind and a determination that the aim will be attained. Much of the detail of this great task cannot be delegated... it is women's work... and they go at it with courage, instilling those about them with truth and love... giving strength when burdens get too heavy for others... putting on armor to fight the battles of those who may doubt a little. Yes, in the hands of America's women lies the destiny of our nation. Let all of us assure ourselves of the victory we seek by buying more War Bonds and Stamps... let all of us hold the torch of that sacred trust America's women have implicitly made a part of our task. Let us win! The women of America are doing their part by "keeping up the homes we're fighting for!"

year, to succeed Orein A. Naragon. Atty Henry I. Reese disclosed the results of the election of officers which took place at a business meeting of the group Friday afternoon.

Other officers named include: First vice president, Cecil Chessman; second vice president, Guy Coppock; secretary, Vivienne Wilt; assistant secretary, Helen Fernengel; treasurer, Kenneth Shears; assistant treasurer, Ralph Smith.

Executive committee — Homer Reese, E. A. Clay, Mrs. Harold West, Mrs. Lester Messersmith and C. Richard Reese.

Nominating committee — Albert Hanna, Richard Strain and Dorothy McCandless.

The banquet last evening was preceded by the reunion of the various classes. The climax was a dance after the dinner, with music by Don Harvey's orchestra.

As a gift from the graduating class of 1942, a check for $500, was tendered to H. W. Young, treasurer of the scholarship committee, who accepted the gift in behalf of the association. The presentation was made by Ben Ware, Jr., president of the class.

Naragon Extends Welcome

The address of welcome to the Seniors, who were guests at the banquet, was made by Orein Naragon, the toastmaster. Ben Ware responded and then announced the class gift.

The Salem High School Alumni association, one of the oldest in the state, has more than 3,000 members. Naragon recalled as he introduced some of the members of graduating classes many years ago.

Among them were Charles Curtis of Cleveland, a graduate in 1877; Dr. Mary White, also of Cleveland, who graduated in 1878; Miss Nora Hise of West Liberty, Iowa, a member of the class of 1881; W. E. Lambert, of Cleveland, an 1891 graduate, and Mrs. Jessie Buraw, Mrs. Roy Harris and James Probert, who were members of the class of 1892.

Mrs. Inez Bixler was present to keep her record of not having missed an alumni gathering for many years.

Music included a vocal solo by Deborah Beery, a member of the class of 1942, and a cello selection by Paul Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Tomlinson of Detroit, William W. Tomlinson of Philadelphia, Mrs. Martin Parkinson of Allentown, Pa., and Frederick Tomlinson of Reynoldsburg, Ohio, are spending the weekend with their father, Lindley Tomlinson, W. State st.

GAY COTTON SHOES SMART, COOL, COMFORTABLE

Left, print longcloth dress, solid color apron, red cotton, leather-soled shoes; top right, lattice strap sandals; below, cotton top oxfords, rope soles.

This is a cotton season, and every year cottons grow more colorful and flattering. There are inexpensive, gay, cool and comfortable shoes, too, in cotton, with leather or rope soles in place of the rubber which is needed for the war. The girl, left, wearing the barbecue dress and apron is all in cotton—the dress fabric printed everlast longcloth, with a clever little apron in solid color of the same material. Her shoes are white and brown cotton, oxford style, with leather soles. Top left is a pair of kedettes with color fast cotton top, open toes, leather soles and lattice straps. They come in two colors as well as one. Below is a pair of rope soled blucher oxfords with cotton tops. They are soft, but protective, and let in a lot of air.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

"I know it's not my mystery," I agreed. "But your uncle and your aunt—and you, too—have been so kind to me since I came to the ranch that I almost feel it is my affair. I wish I could help you solve it."

"I wish you could," Lance Gregg set his jaw.

"Allen is doing his best, I know. But I think he depends too much on finger prints and foot prints. That isn't what I'm looking for. That isn't going to find the murderer."

"What is?"

"Motive. Something that's been going on here, perhaps for months, maybe for years. Allen's counting too much on the tracks—and in the rain that fell the night my uncle was killed there were no tire tracks."

"He thinks the gun is the most important clue," I suggested.

"I know he does. As if the man who shot that gun was going to put it away where it could be found. Here's a ranch of 6,000 acres. There—"

He waved toward the ocean, its gray now changing to purple in the setting sun. "There's the whole Pacific Ocean. Who's going to put a gun away when it's that easy to dispose of it? It's motive that will show who did it. If I could prove what—"

He broke off, looked at me squarely and asked: "Did you hear Worth Durfee say he left five thousand dollars with my uncle the night he called?"

"Yes," I said. "But the sheriff told me not to mention it."

"He's trying to trace it — he doesn't want the public to know. But the bank didn't cash a check for Durfee that morning—in twenties and hundreds, just as he said. And he might have left it there—"

He checked himself again, as if he were thinking out loud and something broke his train of thought.

"When I heard Mr. Durfee say that," I said (I was thinking out loud, too) "I was surprised. For I didn't think Mr. Gregg would accept money like that—he was too businesslike. He'd want it done more regularly."

"That's the devil of it all," Lance said. He flicked the bridle rein against his hand as he spoke as if he would brush away something unpleasant. "He needed ready money. He always kept a good substantial balance in the bank. Always had plenty of ready money. But in the months he was in the hospital things got involved. That's why he sent for me. He didn't entirely trust Harry Craven."

It was on the tip of my tongue to speak of Gregg's conversation with Craven, that last afternoon. But I checked it. Perhaps I was being too much influenced by this personable young man, so tall and strong, striding beside me. Anyhow I'd told Allen—I could tell Lance later, if needed. And there was always the memory of the bit of conversation I'd heard from Lance, as well. That always bobbed up to bother me.

"The final payment on the Gallina Dam construction isn't paid yet—it will be due in a few days. And in the meantime—if you could know the demands for money—"

"I made out his checks and wrote letters," I said, "I do know."

"Yes. You would," Lance agreed with me. "He needed ready money right now. So he might have accepted it and signed that receipt—it was an emergency, you know. Durfee must be telling the truth about that—"

"I asked him a point blank question then. 'Do you believe that Worth Durfee killed your uncle?'"

Lance answered me just as directly. "I do not. I dislike Durfee. I know he's cold. I've always disliked him. But I don't think he did it. He might have shot once—but there were three shots fired. Either the killer was a darned poor shot—you'd have to be pretty blind to miss at twelve feet—or else the man who shot my uncle was a madman and kept on shooting. Had you thought about that?"

"I hadn't, I admitted. 'But there might have been somebody hiding near the cabin.' I said. Then I told him what Miss Baldwin had said—that someone had tried to break in when she was there. He listened carefully."

"You're moving up to the main house tonight—"

"That missing money! Why wasn't it disappearing public?"

Dropping off to sleep in my quarters—the little east room upstairs in the big house—that five thousand dollars was my last waking thought.

It was my first thought the next morning. To me, five thousand was a fortune. To Walter Gregg, I should have imagined, the sum was pin money or peanuts. And yet, according to Lance, his uncle had been in such immediate need of cash that he would have accepted the money as part of a compromise with an ancient enemy. It didn't make sense to me. Maybe I didn't understand much about finance, I decided. At least not about finance on the Castaway scale.

Still less could I understand why, at the inquest, the coroner had so carefully refrained from leading Durfee's statement about the bills left with Walter Gregg.

Later in the day I understood it, in part at least—and saw why Sheriff Allen had held back the possible theft of the bills as one detail of the unsolved murder. My understanding came about this way:

I was working for Miss Gregg. At last we were making a businesslike start on the letters, telegrams and papers that had accumulated in the past few days.

Allen came in, dropped into a chair, rather wearily I thought, and asked for Miss Gregg, dropping his broad felt hat to the floor beside him and wiping his forehead with a characteristic gesture.

I called Martha from her own suite and she came in—Ace and Deuce as usual padding beside her and taking their post at her feet as she sat down.

"Guess I'll have to bother you with some more questions, Martha," he began.

"What now? You look fagged, Nathan. This is getting you all worn out."

"Now, I want to know more about the servants—all that were at the house that night. How many of them have had their days off since Walter was killed?"

Martha went to her secretary and came back with a systematic-looking account book. "I keep it all down. This week has been very irregular, for the regular days of all the staff have been upset. Let me see—Issu, ... Kobe, ... cook and housemaid, ... Dillon, ... that's the groom, ..."

she checked down the page of the ledger. "Ordinarily Issu has Monday; Kobe, Tuesday, and so on; but this week with all our cars so busy going and coming, they've all been put off. Both Issu and Kobe offered to delay their days until next week—and the cook and maid have theirs tomorrow."

"Then none of the staff would have been in Gallina since the murder?"

"Martha looked very thoughtful. 'I won't say that it was impossible for one of them to have picked up a ride—after working hours—and gone to Gallina. But not in working hours. You see we drive our staff to Gallina or to the bus stop on their days off—the distance and the transportation are the difficulties in keeping good help here. The cook has his own car and he and his wife take their days together.'"

Allen nodded. Martha concluded. "But during working hours I'd say that not one of the staff could have been in Gallina. Why?"

"Durfee claims to have left money with Walter, that night."

"I didn't hear a word about that. How much?"

"I know you didn't. I told Lance—"

"But nobody else. It was a lot of money, he says. Five thousand dollars."

"Why would Durfee—or anybody else—be carrying around that much money?"

Then Allen explained it all. Repeated Durfee's tale as told to us. Martha remained thoughtful. "It might be true," she said, after consideration. "He does queer things. I always thought it was queer his living up there with only those two old people to look after him. He knows he can't drive a car well so it's queer he doesn't have a regular driver. He's always been stubborn, though—he and Walter used to be friends, once, you know—"

"What happened?" Allen asked.

"Nobody," I knew. After Walter and Durfee were divorced, Walter and Durfee had a falling out. Then they quarreled over that boundary line. You know all about that. It was all so silly—the few feet of land involved meant so little to either one of the men but they were both stubborn. Neither one of them would yield an inch. It cost them so much more than the value of the land. But you know Walter—"

"Sure. I know Durfee, too. So you think your brother would have taken a cash compromise for the damage suit?"

Miss Gregg frowned and patted Deuce's head absently.

"Not ordinarily. The word 'compromise' didn't exist for my brother, usually. But since his accident he's been—well, different. So many extra expenses. Then Pauline—you know how much she costs. And Estelle—she's an expensive luxury."

"She's expensive, at least," agreed Allen wryly.

FURNACE TRIUMPHS OVER SALEM CHINA; JACKSONS WIN, 6-5

Recreation Paces Field; E. F. Win Hurts China Title Chances

The Electric Furnace team practically handed the Recreation city softball league first round title last night when they tripped the second place Salem Chinas, 5-1. It was the Furnace all the way as Courtney held the usually hard-hitting Pottery team to four blows.

A three-run blast in the second practically settled the game but the Furnace, hot on the trail of its second straight win, drove across two more in the fifth. It was in this inning that the Chinas worked Courtney for their lone tally.

Heston led the Furnace attack with a triple and a single, being the only member of the team to touch McCoy for more than one hit.

In the second battle, the Jacksons showed across two runs in the half of the seventh and final frame to defeat the Carroll club by a 6-5 count.

The Carrolls led off with a two-run outburst in the top half of the first only to see Jacksons go them two better. They kept plugging away and in the fourth scored one run and tallied two in the fifth to take the lead. The count remained that way until the last of the seventh when Jackson rallied to score two runs and their second win of the campaign.

Ray McGaffick and Johnny Hart collected two singles each to pace the winners while Sam Pridon's triple and single led the Carrolls. Nedelka, Carroll club hurler, was touched for nine hits while Wayne Hahn of Jacksons gave up one more.

MOVES ON

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 6.—First reports trickling in from clubs that staged Red Cross tennis tournaments last week-end indicate that the average take was $100 a club... and since 300 or so clubs were on the list, the contribution wouldn't exactly give you hay fever... Looks even bigger when you remember that tournament tennis is played mostly by young fellows who have more speed and endurance than dough... Officials expect that similar events July 4 and Labor day week-ends will do even better... Regardless of how much the sectional groups take in this week-end on the qualifying rounds, the Hale America golf tourney looks like a financial success already... The Ridgemonk club has pledged itself to buy $7,000 worth of tickets and the other 64 Chicago district clubs are organizing a selling drive... Indications are the gate will reach $40,000 or $50,000.

The Dykes have a word for it. Jimmy Dykes, Jr., who is catching for the Lockport, N. Y., Can-Am league club, doesn't yield much to his old man in vocalizing... After the White Sox played an exhibition there the other day, Jim Sr., was able to report why Jim, Jr., was chased from a game... When an umpire with whom young Jim had been feuding for a couple of days called a close one against him, Jimmy, Jr., remarked, without looking around or taking off his mask: "Why don't you pay your way in so you can be lousy up in the stands?"

Today's Guest Star
"Zitny" Parry, Lebanon (Pa.) Daily News: "Would Jimmy Foxx be classed as a vanishing American now that he's gone over to the National league?"

AKRON GOODRICH IS LAKE PLACENTIA FOE

Seeking its sixth triumph in seven engagements, the Lake Placentia nine will meet the Akron Goodrich Local on Lakers' diamond tomorrow at 3 p. m. The two teams met twice last season and wound up even... Either Newton or Wilderling is slated to take the mound for the Rubber City team while either Earl Branfield or Johnny Hrvatic will hurl for the Placentia club. Newton pitched against and defeated the Lakers last season while Wilderling was a member of the Butler team of the Penn State association last year.

ROOKIE PITCHER GOES 16 INNINGS, ONLY TO LOSE, 1-0

Browns Take Decision Over Athletics In Season's Longest Game

(By Associated Press)
Sympathetic baseball fans can shed a tear today for Rookie Richard Fowler of the Philadelphia Athletics, who might have been pitching yet if it hadn't been for Walt Judnich of the surging St. Louis Browns.

For 15 innings last night, the 21-year-old Canadian-born righthander blanked the Browns on eight hits. At the same time, however, his mates were finding Johnny Niggeling just as tough. Then George Caster relieved Niggeling after 12 frames, and he proved even tougher.

So the teams moved into the 16th inning in the longest game in the major leagues this season and Judnich opened with a triple against the right field wall, only extra-base hit of the game.

Laabs Knocks Fly
Chet Laabs scored him with an outfield fly and the Browns took the 1-0 decision. The Athletics dropped back into the American league cellar, passing the Washington Senators on their way.

It took the Senators ten innings to wrest a 3-2 verdict from the Detroit Tigers in another of the three night games on the major league slate. Buck Newsom won his second game from his former teammates.

The Tiger defeat helped the New York Yankees add a full game to their American league lead. The Yanks stopped the second-place Cleveland Indians, 6-3, stretching their margin to nine and a half games over both Cleveland and Detroit and notching their 24th victory in 28 games.

The Boston Red Sox protected their first division berth, half a game ahead of the fifth-place Browns, by turning back the Chicago White Sox, 4-2. Lou Flanery drove in three of the Boston runs.

Giants Whip Cards
In the National league's only a light tilt, the New York Giants moved into third place by whipping the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, on the four-hit pitching of Dave Koslo.

The Cardinal loss boosted the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers to six and a half games, although Brooklyn split a double bill with the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers downed the Cubs, 6-3, in the opening game, but the Cubs pushed over a tenth inning run to win the second 4 to 3.

The Cincinnati Reds pulled the Boston Braves down into a fourth-place tie with them by taking both ends of a doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-1.

At Pittsburgh, the Pirates broke a ten-game losing streak, but they had to come from behind twice to nip the Philadelphia Phils, 6-5.

CHUBBY DEAN NAMED TO FACE NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 6.—Al Smith's star was on the dimmer side of the Cleveland dugout today after the portside pitcher became the first Indian to lose five games this season.

To avenge Lefty Al's 6 to 3 defeat yesterday at the hands of the New York Yankees, the Redskins picked Chubby Dean to hurl today. Dean, a longtime Yankee nemesis, whipped them 7 to 2 at Cleveland last month.

It was the first and third innings which whipped Smith yesterday. New York scored three runs in the first inning on three walks, two singles and a double before Al fanned the ninth man he faced, Pitcher Lefty Gomez.

Smith allowed two more runs on three singles and a fielder's choice in the third frame before he went to the showers.

Meanwhile the Indians scored two runs in the second inning on two walks, a fielder's choice and an error. Their final marker came in the fifth when Les Fleming singled home Jeff Heath, who had doubled.

MRS. GAIL A. ROOSE CAPTURES WOMEN'S TRAPSHOOT TITLE

Takes Handicap Laurels, With 94 Out Of 100 In Annual Ohio Event

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, June 6.—Class championships—200 targets at 15 yards—were up for decision today in Ohio's 56th annual trap-shooting tournament, but the marksmen still were talking about the weird windup to yesterday's handicap race.

Six shooters romped through the 100-target event and into a tie by breaking 97 each. One of them was George Mills, 36 year-old painter from Greenville minus his left eye to an accident, and making his first start in the handicap affair.

But, when the smoke of the 50-target shoot-off had cleared, Mills was the winner and new champion, breaking the 50 extra clays in a row, three ahead of his nearest foe.

Mills came up to the last target of the 100 with a chance to win all by himself—but he missed to get into the tie. J. W. White of Springfield had even worse luck. He had missed but once in the first 95 shots, but he "blew" the 96th and 99th and wound up with 97.

Others In Shoot-Off
Also in the shoot-off were Roy Izor of Farmersville, P. R. Cummings of Cedarville, L. O. Trees of Plain City, and W. H. Cox of Cincinnati. All but Cox were eliminated when they missed on the first 25 extra clays, but Cox and Mills went "straight." On the second 25, however, the Queen City marksman missed three times.

Mills, who never fired at a registered target until last year, succeeds the veteran Mark Hootman of Hicksville, 1913 Grand American handicap winner, as state champ.

The doubles crown went to Karl Maust of Columbus, winner of the singles and all-around titles last year—and captor of the "Champion of Champions" race between state title holders at the "Roaring Grand." Maust broke 96. Defending Champion Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro was second with 92.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS
Hitler found out that his high powered mechanized and motorized army bogged down in the snow and mud of the Russian Winter. Although our Army is largely mechanized the cavalry horse is still a highly essential factor in this mounted division and in the Field Artillery. The Army also maintains remount farms where many cavalry horses are bred and raised.

These select horses cost from $100 to $165 and our crack cavalrymen are expert riders and carry on the traditions which have followed the cavalry from the earliest days of the Army. Purchase of War Savings Bonds will insure good mounts for the Cavalry. You and your neighbors buying War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day can help buy these horses for the U. S. Cavalry. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds.

JAPS DEALT HEAVY LOSSES AT MIDWAY

Carriers, Battleships And Transports Hit Hard By U. S. Forces

States forces were wrapped largely in military secrecy beyond the admiral's statement that "the brunt of the defense to date has fallen upon aviation personnel, in which the army, navy, and marine corps all were represented."

But if Japan hoped to catch by surprise the Midway defenders who have beaten off five weaker assaults, dating back to Dec. 7, the surprise worked in reverse. Preparations for just such a major blow, carrying with it a threat to Hawaii and even the United States mainland, have gone forward swiftly since the war opened. They have been so exhaustive that Admiral Nimitz returning a month ago from a visit to Midway, voiced praise for the effective coordination he had witnessed there.

He said the Midway fliers in the present battle "have added another shining page to their record of achievements" and "on every occasion when we have met the enemy, our officers and men have been superlative in their offensive spirit."

Theatre Attractions

GLAMOR MISSING IN RANKS OF NURSES

(By Associated Press)

With U. S. Army in New Caledonia (Delayed)—Nurses with the United States armed forces here agree that life in the open is fine but concede regular army trousers and shirt don't heighten their glamor.

Outside a tent somewhere amid New Caledonia eucalyptus trees, the nurses told an interviewer most of them never had spent a night outdoors prior to service here.

They helped set up a field hospital in a woods near Noumea and found that swimming, hikes, deer hunting and general outdoor life—their only recreation—were highly enjoyable.

They wear regular army gear because their own uniforms aren't adequate protection against mosquitoes.

They prepare their own food but one of them said: "I've been practicing and trying but I just can't get myself to like rice. If the Japs come and it looks like we would be captured, I'm going to take to the hills and live with some friendly natives."

Among the nurses is Harriet McClelland of Fredericktown, O.

Notes Lack of Trained Laboratory Technicians

LAWRENCE, Kan. — A shortage of trained bacteriologists and technicians has become evident in the short time this country has been at war, Dr. Noble P. Sherwood, chairman of the Department of bacteriology at the University of Kansas, said recently.

He then outlined the opportunities afforded young women to be of service to their country.

Letters from all parts of the country asking for competent technicians, both for government and private service, have flooded the University of Kansas offices.

"We just don't have enough girls to fill these important positions," Dr. Sherwood said.

Fires, storms and insects each year, destroy 7 billion board feet of standing timber in the United States.

Marines' 'Cutest Chutist'

DEATHS

MRS. BETTY COLES BRITTAIN Announcement has been made here of the death recently of Mrs. Betty Coles Brittain in Florida.

She was the daughter of the late S. B. Coles, and Mrs. James Swan of Bradenton, Fla. She was graduated from Salem High school in 1931.

Surviving are her husband, two children, her mother and a sister.

WILLIAM S. ROWLEY

LISBON, June 6 — William S. Rowley, 76, a farmer and life-long resident of Wayne township, died at 7:15 a. m. today following a five-month illness.

Born Oct. 2, 1865, he was the son of Alexander and Martha Rowley. He was a member of the Wayne township grange and the Presbyterian church of Lisbon.

Survivors include his wife, Sara; one son, Joseph A., at home; a daughter, Ethel Marie, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Nettie Donaldson of Painesville, Mrs. Addie Walker of East Liverpool, Mrs. Fannie Morrow of Pittsburgh, and one brother, Harry, of Wellsville.

Funeral rites will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Bethel Presbyterian church in charge of Rev. J. Morgan Cox. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the home on the Lisbon-Salineville road Sunday and Monday.

REV. MARTIN L. EICH

Rev. Martin L. Eich, 77, a retired Lutheran minister of Petersburg, died at 10 p. m. Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred S. Rauch, of Petersburg, following a three-month illness due to a heart condition.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Eich, and was born May 4, 1865, in Donation, Mercer county, Pa. He was married to Minnie E. Eich June 10, 1896, in Greenville, Pa. His wife died in July, 1939. He was the last of a family of 13 children.

He graduated from Capital university and seminary in 1896, and entered the Lutheran ministry in June, 1896. He has served at St. Luke's Old Springfield church, Schroy Lutheran church, Koch church, and Brick Martin Lutheran church, all in the vicinity of Petersburg. He retired from the ministry in 1922. He had lived in Youngstown 20 years, returning to Petersburg six months ago.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fred S. Rauch; two sons, Lawrence W. and Kenneth L. of Youngstown; and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Woodland Avenue church in Youngstown, in charge of Rev. George J. Balsler, of New Kensington and Rev. Paul Adams of Youngstown. The body will lie in state from 1:30 until funeral time.

The body will be at the home of Lawrence W. Eich of 323 Potomac drive, Youngstown, where friends may call anytime Sunday afternoon and evening.

restaurant boarding, and are greatly in excess of the annual cost of operating and maintaining the old county prison here, which, in 1939, the last year of its operation, amounted to only $5,697.14.

37 Now In Jail

At the present time there are 37 prisoners being boarded in the Mahoning jail, 23 of whom are serving sentences on indictments charges from the court on Mahoning Judge Frank Grossman's East Liverpool. Records in the office of Sheriff George Hayes reveal that these cases constitute approximately 70 per cent of Columbiana's prison board bill, and all are from East Liverpool, as other cities and villages handle and dispose of such cases under their own ordinances. Other prisoners now incarcerated include four from Salem; five common pleas court, three juvenile court, one from East Palestine, and one from a justice of the peace court.

CHICAGO—A proposal to transform 100 police squad cars into stretchers and add 20 new combination ambulance and patrol wagons as a war measure was proposed to the health council by Dr. Joseph C. Kloss, council chairman.

MT. UNION COLLEGE WILL GRADUATE 92

Two From Salem To Receive Degrees At Commencement Sunday

Two Salem students will be among the 92 candidates for graduation at Mount Union college's 99th commencement to be held at 3 p. m. Sunday. Miss Ellen Elder, N. Ellsworth ave., will receive a Bachelor of Science degree and a Bachelor of Arts degree will be awarded Wilbur Couchie, 910 E. Fourth st.

Miss Elder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Elder, majored in biology and education for a career in teaching. A leader in campus activities, Couchie was president of the Y. M. C. A. assistant editor of the economics department publication, secretary of the Dynamo association and a member of the Upsilon staff and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He studied economics for work in accounting.

Activities Condensed The commencement activities, for the first time in history, have been condensed into a weekend at a matter of cooperation with alumni and parents engaged in defense activities. Alumni activities were held today, with fraternity and sorority reunions scheduled for this evening. Baccalaureate exercises are set for 10:15 a. m. Sunday with commencement set for the afternoon.

Dean A. J. Drumbaugh, outstanding educator and professor at the University of Chicago, will give the commencement address. President Charles B. Ketcham will preach at baccalaureate.

Honor Two Famous Sons Mount will honor two of her famous sons when degrees are awarded to Dr. Howard B. Anderson, outstanding cancer research member of the United States Public Health Service in Washington, and Dr. John R. Cheney, pastor of the Akron Methodist church. Dr. Anderson was graduated in 1923 and Cheney in 1921.

Ten of the 93 seniors are already engaged in active military service or in vital defense work. An additional eight are awaiting calls to become officers under the Naval Reserve officers training, one of the four officer training programs established at Mount Union by the Air Corps, the Navy, the Marines and the Coast Guard. Eight of the class are entering medical school immediately after graduation, to start condensed medical courses.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Patients coming to the County Hospital will bring their own sugar cards with them hereafter to help solve the problem created by rationing.
